REAL ESTATE INCREASE

Total Assessment for 1913.

Building operations in Virginia during the past year have added $11.594.350 to the total of the real estate assessment, according to figures issued by State Auditor of Public Accounts C, Lee Moore yesterday. The total of the real estate assessment, which includes all agricultural lands, town and city lots and the buildings thereon, subject to taxation, amounted to $21.065.297, as compared with $569.470.947 last year. The land assessment remains practically the same, a new assessment being made every five years. The increase therefore is practically all due to the erection of new buildings subject to taxation. The real estate assessment does not include mineral lands or standing timber, which are assessed separately. The State tax on the $11,594.350 of increase will add to the revenue of the $40.550 per annum. State Auditor Gives $521,065,297
